Erdogan Offers Citizenship to Syrian and Iraqi Refugees

“Our interior ministry is carrying out work, and under this work, some of them will be granted our nationality after all the necessary checks have been carried out,” he said.

President Erdogan says some refugees who pass screenings will be granted nationality to “make use” of their skills.

Turkey hosts more than three million refugees, mostly from Syria

Turkish president Recep Tayyip Erdogan has announced that some Syrian and Iraqi refugees who pass a screening process will be granted Turkish citizenship.

In a speech broadcast on television, Erdogan said that security checks would be letting them work illegally here and there, let's give them the chance to work as citizens like the children of this nation.”

Erdogan added that the interior ministry “is ready to implement the measure at any time”. But he gave no further details, notably about how many would gain Turkish nationality.

According to Turkish government figures, the country is hosting more than three million Syrians and Iraqis who have fled conflict.

The Turkish leader outlined a naturalisation plan last summer but the idea was met with angry protests and xenophobic comments on social media.

Syrian Refugee Crisis- Fast Facts

13.5 million people in Syria need humanitarian assistance due to a violent civil war that began in 2011.

4.8 million Syrians are refugees, and 6.1 million are displaced within Syria; half of those affected are children.

Children affected by the Syrian conflict are at risk of becoming ill, malnourished, abused, or exploited. Millions have been forced to quit school. View these photos to see life through the eyes of Syrian refugee children.

Most Syrian refugees remain in the Middle East, in Turkey, Lebanon, Jordan, Iraq, and Egypt; slightly more than 10 percent of the refugees have fled to Europe.

Peace negotiations continue despite a fraying and piecemeal ceasefire.

“The children of Syria have experienced more hardship, devastation, and violence than any child should have to in a thousand lifetimes,” says Dr. Christine Latif, World Vision’s response manager for Turkey and northern Syria.

Why are Syrians leaving their homes?

Violence: Since the Syrian civil war began in 2011, as many as 386,000 people have been killed, including nearly 14,000 children, says the Syrian Observatory for Human Rights. The war has become more deadly since foreign powers joined the conflict.

Collapsed infrastructure: Within Syria, 95 percent of people lack adequate healthcare, 70 percent lack regular access to clean water. Half the children are out of school. The economy is shattered and four-fifths of the population lives in poverty.

Children in danger and distress: Syrian children – the nation’s hope for a better future – have lost loved ones, suffered injuries, missed years of schooling, and witnessed unspeakable violence and brutality. Warring parties forcibly recruit children to serve as fighters, human shields, and in support roles, according to the U.S. State Department.

Most refugees from Syria are still in the region. They’ve fled violence and sought refuge in Turkey, Lebanon, Jordan, Iraq, and Egypt. Around 10 percent are taking the dangerous journey to Europe.

Pakistan- The Fastest Growing Muslim Economy in 2017

According to ‘The Economist magazine’ the financial indicators published suggest that Pakistan is the fastest growing Muslim economy of the world.

Pakistan’s estimated GDP growth - 5.3% - is also ahead of 4% GDP growth of Israel. This makes Pakistan world’s fifth fastest-growing economy in the world, only behind India and China and two other countries. The live data, which is updated twice-daily, is published on The Economist website in the form of an interactive table of economic and financial indicators. This data reinforces a Harvard University study which predicted Pakistan to grow by more than 5% in the next decade.

The 2017 forecast of 5.3% growth is, however, lower than the 2016’s 5.7% Page 2

Markaz-e-Fahmedeen: Phase-4 Markaz Winter Camp Review by Bint-e-Mahmood

Allah Taala says in the Quran:

“Verily all mankind is at loss, except those who accepted Emaan and did good deeds and did wassiyah of the right and did wassiyah of patience.” (Surah Al ASR)

Our beloved Prophet ﷺ said:

“There are two blessings of which most of mankind is heedless: health and free time.”(Bukhari and Muslim)

In the connotation of another hadith, the Holy Prophet ﷺ said

“(Make use of) five things before five things, your health before your illness, your youth before your old age, your freedom(of time) before your confinement(of tasks), your wealth before your poverty, your life before your death.”(Bukhari and Muslim)

With these goals in mind, the team at Markaz e Fahmedeen, Phase 4 arranged a ten day winter camp. To ensure that the precious time of our young generation does not go in vain, interactive workshops were arranged. They were on various topics, but all of them were stepping stones for them to pave the way to a successful Aakhirah. May Allah ﷻ grant them the ability to practice what they learned, Ameen.

“The road to success” was based on all the verses in the Quran that explain a believer’s way to success.

“The lost glory of Baghdad” was a very informative workshop and a historical piece of work on the glorious Muslim Era at its Apex and then how it eventually came to its decline.

“Every Muslim girl is a queen” showed the girls how to embrace their hijab with pride and their heads high. After all it’s the best adornment ever given to women from the start of time!!!!

“Easy small deeds “ was designed to show that even in a busy lifestyle like we have today, doing good deeds is as easy and natural as our daily habits as we can even make our sleep a source of earning good deeds for us if we sleep in the sunnah way and recite duas and so much more...

Other than talks, activities were also arranged. Festive paper wreaths, formic pencil holders and cross stitching, a talent extremely rare today, was taught. The students enjoyed them and actively participated. The girls who came up with the most innovative and unique specimen were awarded a prize on the last days ceremony.

Russian salad, they were also enlightened on the benefits of specific foods, and what were our Holy Prophet’s ﷺ favorite foods and how a necessity as simple as eating can increase our good deeds if the sunnah ways and duas are observed.

The Winter Camp ended on Saturday 31 December 2016. It was a fun filled one in which the students actively participated and recited poems and nasheeds and speeches. The day ended with Umme Muhammad awarding the students their certificates and a short discourse by Mufti Abdul Jabbar Sahab DamatBarakatuhum who granted precious pearls of advice to the students.

Alhamdolillah the Fahmedeen team is working on our upcoming workshop, “Eat good and do good deeds” which will be held Inshallah on Wednesday and Thursday, 25th January and 26th January 2017 at Bungalow no 2, 12th South Street ,phase 2 extension, Opposite Baitussalam masjid , Karachi. 8. One more reason to make you go crazy about oranges; Did you know that orange tree comes under evergreen trees. Their foliage remains green throughout the year. Old leaves are replaced by new leaves which keep the plant green for always.

9. Orange is source of antioxidants that aids in decreasing burns due to oxidation. It also enhances immune system by providing resistance power against infectious agents. Vitamin C found in oranges fights against inflammation caused due to the pro-inflammatory free radicals present in blood. Woman, now, hiding age will be more true with both including orange in your diet and using its peel as an ingredient in your face pack. There are some good antioxidants in orange that counter the effect of free radicals making the signs of aging fade away and allow you to carry yourself with sheen and confidence of your young looking skin.

10. Because of its attribute of skin friendliness, all of its products including its peel is used in manufacturing of cosmetics. You can yourself see it on the ingredients section of your product. But, hold on! let me tell you here only, you will not find word “orange” written over there but its scientific name i.e. “Citrus AurantiumDulcis” Page 2
